Foreword

IT gives us, the Seniors of Hugh Morson High School, great pleasure to present this fifth volume of THE OAK LEAF. In the following pages we show the scenes and the pictures which we hold dear to the memories of our high school days. In order that the ties of our friendships may be more closely drawn, we, with the loyal support of the faculty and the student body, have tried to portray our high school life as we have lived it. May our book, THE OAK LEAF of 1931, be a source of interest to all outsiders and a source of pleasant memories to our schoolmates.

WE dedicate this fifth volume of
THE OAK LEAF
TO
MRS. J. M. BARBEE

as an expression of our love and appreciation for her unfailing guidance and interest in us, her efforts to instill into our minds and spirits the desire for higher ideals in living, and her patience in giving us knowledge for the betterment of the community in which we live.

Onward and Upward

ONWARD AND UPWARD we go,
Noble class of thirty-one.
We're not content to stay below;
And after fighting hard, we've won.
Reward of our toil is found, but we know
Difficulty has only begun.

After we've gone to this school so long,
No one could express our farewell song
Deep enough as we pass along.

Upward, ever upward, our aim is high,
Pass this earthly realm, because our class
Will climb till we reach the sky.
And after we've risen far above the mass,
Remembrance fond we'll have till we die,
Dear old school, Hugh Morson High!

WILLIAM MYATT,
Class Poet.

Class History

IT was the fourth day of September, 1927—a calm, peaceful, autumnal day, radiant with the sunshine of hope, cheer, and joyous promise—that the good ship Hugh Morson High School stood at anchor at the wharf of a new school year. It was the same old ship that had carried many passengers to safe harbor in the Land of Great Wisdom, but this day was a gala day in its history, and many people gazed upon it in wonder as they watched the beautiful and charming young ladies and the bold and dashing young gentlemen as they so happily stepped aboard, for it was rumored that they were about to set sail over new and untried waters in a quest for The Fountain of Perfect Understanding.

As the ship stood at anchor on that eventful morning of September, the passengers began to arrive. Soon so many were crowding around us that all the berths were filled, and we were assured of a very happy voyage.

We were naturally very enthusiastic and asked many eager questions of our Captain, as to the incidents of our voyage and its probable length; and we were assured that if we were persevering and diligent in our duties, we should easily reach our destination at the end of four years. So it was with very hopeful hearts and smiling faces that we bade our parents and friends good-bye and waved our handkerchiefs from the deck at those left behind in the Grammar Grades as we steamed away from the wharf and out of the harbor, actually embarked for a four years' absence on our Voyage of High School Life.

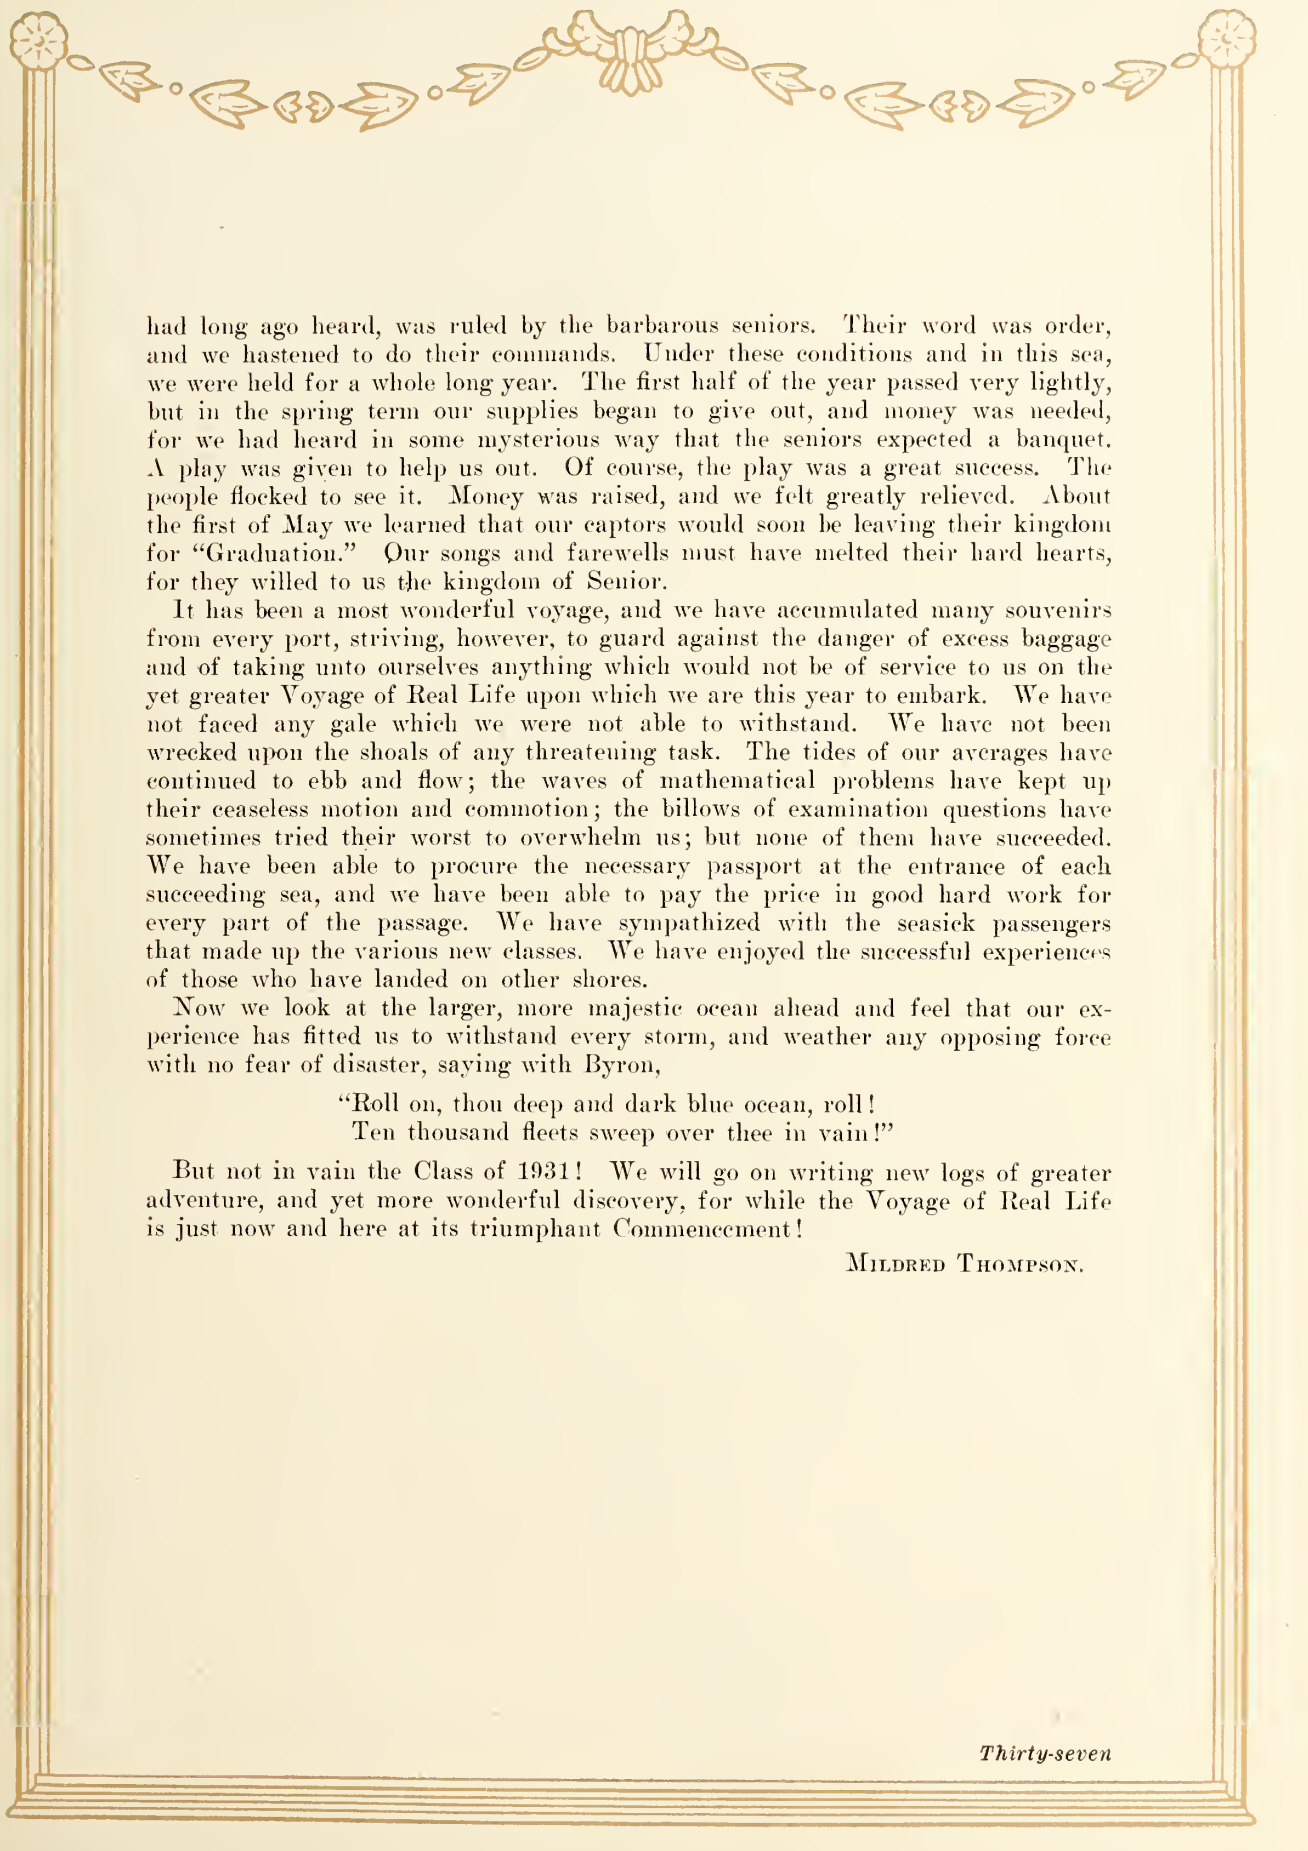

We were young and socially inclined; so it did not take us long to become acquainted with our fellow-passengers, nor to feel very much at home with our Pilot, the Captain, the Stewardess, and even the Porter. Our fears of shipwreck were entirely wiped away in the assurance that so able a staff of seamen had us in their charge. There were naturally a few cases of seasickness, and various ones were tempted to throw up algebra, Latin, and other disagreeable dishes and toss some of their best belongings overboard in times of rough sea, but the Stewardess assured them calmly but firmly that they would only have to consume these indigestibles over and over until they were perfectly assimilated, and so they bravely managed to hold them down.

We noticed at the outset of the voyage that the stream upon which we had set sail was comparatively narrow and sheltered; but using our field glasses, we could see such wide vistas of water ahead, that we were led to inquire of the Captain the significance of the situation. He explained to us that the Voyage of High School Life was in reality to be over four seas, though the four bodies of water were so closely joined together that they seemed but one immense sea. He informed us further that we had just entered upon the first and smallest of these, which was called the Freshman Sea.

The usual intimacy of shipboard soon sprang up between us voyagers, and we have been loyal shipmates ever since. We sailed over the Freshman Sea and received our checks of identification from the Purser almost before we knew it.

We next entered the Sophomore Sea. As the result of this monstrous trip, a few of our shipmates—the weak ones, of course—had gone ashore. Their absence was not so noticeable because a few more ambitious lads and lassies had joined us.

The end of another year found us entering the Junior Sea. This sea, as we had long ago heard, was ruled by the barbarous seniors. Their word was order, and we hastened to do their commands. Under these conditions and in this sea, we were held for a whole long year. The first half of the year passed very lightly, but in the spring term our supplies began to give out, and money was needed, for we had heard in some mysterious way that the seniors expected a banquet. A play was given to help us out. Of course, the play was a great success. The people flocked to see it. Money was raised, and we felt greatly relieved. About the first of May we learned that our captors would soon be leaving their kingdom for "Graduation." Our songs and farewells must have melted their hard hearts, for they willed to us the kingdom of Senior.

It has been a most wonderful voyage, and we have accumulated many souvenirs from every port, striving, however, to guard against the danger of excess baggage and of taking unto ourselves anything which would not be of service to us on the yet greater Voyage of Real Life upon which we are this year to embark. We have not faced any gale which we were not able to withstand. We have not been wrecked upon the shoals of any threatening task. The tides of our averages have continued to ebb and flow; the waves of mathematical problems have kept up their ceaseless motion and commotion; the billows of examination questions have sometimes tried their worst to overwhelm us; but none of them have succeeded. We have been able to procure the necessary passport at the entrance of each succeeding sea, and we have been able to pay the price in good hard work for every part of the passage. We have sympathized with the seasick passengers that made up the various new classes. We have enjoyed the successful experiences of those who have landed on other shores.

Now we look at the larger, more majestic ocean ahead and feel that our experience has fitted us to withstand every storm, and weather any opposing force with no fear of disaster, saying with Byron,

"Roll on, thou deep and dark blue ocean, roll!
Ten thousand fleets sweep over thee in vain!"

But not in vain the Class of 1931! We will go on writing new logs of greater adventure, and yet more wonderful discovery, for while the Voyage of Real Life is just now and here at its triumphant Commencement!

MILDRED THOMPSON.

Class Prophecy

A Prophet I could never be,
Tho' I tried with all my might,
We'll let the class speak for itself,
For truly it is right.

The class of 1931 closed its books, and each went his own way promising to return for a reunion in June, 1941. However, due to exceedingly successful business ventures, only seventy-eight are present at this banquet table. Those who could not be present have sent us messages. We shall hear from them first.

Last Will and Testament

NORTH CAROLINA }
WAKE COUNTY } MAY 29, 1931.

WE, the Senior Class of 1931 of the Hugh Morson High School, State and county as aforesaid, being of sound mind and body, but, realizing that our days at this institution are limited, and having certain real and imaginary effects of which we wish to dispose, do hereby declare this to be our Last Will and Testament.

ITEM 1

To our most revered and honored superintendent, Mr. Daniels, we leave the destiny of our school, feeling safe in the assurance that under his guidance it will become the greatest school in the world.

ITEM 2

To our principal, Mr. Wessinger, and to the other distinguished members of our faculty, we leave our thanks for their help, our appreciation of their wonderful belief in us, and our best wishes for the future.

ITEM 3

To Miss Coffey, our friend, helper, and guide, we leave our undying gratitude. She knows, loves, and understands us, and to her we bequeath the title, "Pal."

ITEM 4

To the student body, our marvelous record of perfect attendance, splendid scholarship, and our unexcelled attainments; and we do hereby stipulate that our example be kept before them and that they ever strive to attain this perfection enjoyed by us.

ITEM 5

To the incoming Senior Class, whose greatest ambition, of course, will be to be just like us—we leave all our abilities and accomplishments, whether physical, mental, or nerve wracking, and also any so-called Senior privileges which by diligent search they may find.

ITEM 6

To the Junior Class to be, we leave our very best wishes and our sympathies; for theirs will be the job of keeping the newly created Sophomore Class in check.

ITEM 7

To the Sophomore Class, who were verdant Freshmen at the beginning of the year, we leave our best wishes and instructions that they comport themselves decorously, and be not too hard on their successors, but that they remember their own shortcomings when they were "Fresh."

ITEM 8

To the brand new green Freshmen, who are approaching this great and glorious institution with arid thirst for knowledge, we bequeath the care of our buildings and grounds, and we hereby appoint them a committee to pick up all papers, trash, etc. (We acknowledge in advance the faculty's thanks for giving them such a corps of efficient helpers.)

ITEM 9

To the certain individuals and persons we do hereby bequeath the following:
First. To Bill Jones, the short stature of William Myatt.
Second. To Annie Mae Banks, the daintiness of Eleanor Lilly.
Third. To Farmer Smith, the football uniform of Irvin Lazarus; and may he be as "big" a success as Irvin.
Fourth. To Gordon Smith the soft mellow voice of Bryan Davis.
Fifth. To Grimes Hanna, the basketball ability of Willie Moff.
Sixth. To Sara Monie the dancing ability of Berdina Seligson.
Seventh. To Leonard Dowdee, John Harper's speed in speech.
Eighth. To Grady Ferrel and Paul Kametches, Arthur Broughton's football ability (all that is left goes to Snooks Bishop).
Ninth. To Hazel Beacham, Dorothy Parmley's blond hair.
Tenth. To Thomas Williams, Robert Boyd's ambition.
Eleventh. To Robert Austin, the artistic ability to teach dancing now enjoyed by Arnold Jacobs.
Twelfth. To Margaret Richardson, Annie Louise Wilkerson's good looks.
Thirteenth. To anyone who desires it, Bob Nowell's record of giving dances.

ITEM 10

First. We do hereby appoint A. T. Spurlock as sole executor, without bond, and he is authorized to carry out faithfully the terms and conditions of foregoing instrument.

Second. Witness, our hands and seals, we the authorized guardians of the great and glorious class of 1931.

Witnesses:

J. ALLEN BAILEY, Testator.

The Class of '32

To strive always toward the light,
To honor our own proud red and white,
To fight bravely for the quest,
Always striving toward the best,
To have tried, to have learned,
To say each diploma was earned,
To grow in the strength of our ideals,
As our class rose from weedy fields,
To be able to say one year hence,
Our hardest classes will now commence,
On through thick or thin,
Either to lose or win,
But in as brave a manner,
To proudly carry a H. M. H. S. banner,
Not to shirk duty, but to be ever true,
"Semper fidelis" will be the class of '32.

Junior Class History

THE class of 1932 was born in September, 1921. On account of having attended separate schools, the class was not really begun until 1928, when approximately two hundred and forty pupils were enrolled in the old Junior High School on Morgan Street. Although nothing eventful happened that year, the majority of the present Junior Class will confess that so far, that year was the most enjoyable in their school careers.

In 1929 we came to Hugh Morson, the usual green freshmen. After being adjusted in high school, we held a class meeting and elected the following officers: Francis Worth, President; Elizabeth Davidson, Vice President; and Kenlon Brockwell, Secretary and Treasurer. After much discussion it was decided that the class colors would be red and white; the flower, a red rose; and the motto, "Semper Fidelis," which in English translation means "Ever faithful." Miss Louise Smaw consented to be our much-needed class adviser.

The following year the class came back to school, proud but very sad; proud because we were no longer Freshmen, but Sophomores, and sad because more than half the class had been sent to the New High School. Of course the class had to be completely reorganized. This time Miss Nelle Scott was elected class adviser. The new officers were: Howard Mayo, President; Bruce Cauthen, Vice President; and Sara Monie, Secretary and Treasurer. This year also was uneventful.

Dignified Juniors! How proud we were last fall when we came back to school. For various reasons it took the class longer than usual to begin work this year. Finally at a meeting called by Miss Scott officers were elected as follows: Gordon Smith, President; McCoy Richardson, Vice President; Helen Ruffin, Secretary; and Billy Wright, a recent addition to our class from Garner, Treasurer; Hazel Beacham, Assistant Editor of the OAK LEAF; and Annie May Banks, Assistant Business Manager of the OAK LEAF.

Miss Scott appointed a ring committee, and at a meeting later they decided to use the same designs for the class rings and to get them from the same company. It was an exciting day when Mr. Miller took the measurements, and still more exciting when the rings arrived.

Probably this closes the history of the Junior F class until the present date. Meanwhile we are looking forward to a "bigger and better" Junior-Senior Banquet and shall remain "Semper Fidelis."

The Sophomore Rimes

THE Sophomores first met in old Junior High;
It was there they began their high school career;
To them have come many a hardship and sigh,
And lots of good times in that famous first year.

The Class of '33 claims one thirty-nine
With sixty-five girls and seventy-four boys;
Good marks and bad grades for many will combine
To make up their sorrows and bring them great joys.

FRESHMAN A CLASS

Freshmen

WE are now at last in high school,
And our fun has just begun;
We have lots and lots of lessons,
And we're weary when they're done.

But there are so many pleasures,
As we're finding out each day
Though our work is getting harder,
We still have much time to play.

We are big, and we are little;
Look at "Becky" Cates and "Min";
We are fat, and we are skinny,
Riddle's fat; and Walker, thin.

Pete's hair blazes like a comet;
You can hear Merle's voice a mile;
And you think you see a rainbow,
But it's only Wilson's Smile.

But four years will make us Seniors!
Think of it! Just four years more!
Watch our smoke! Just look who's coming!
It's the Class of '34.

SUB-FRESHMEN

To the Sub-Freshmen

THREE cheers for our youngest class!
Here's to them one and all!
Here's to the most playful mass!
Here's to the noisiest in the hall!

Perhaps it's all so strange and new,
Maybe things are hard to bear,
To suddenly grow up is hard to do,
To break rules, naturally they'd dare.

So here's to their success,
And to the way they bear each fall,
Of life's blessings, for them the best,
And their response to education's call.

HAZEL BEACHAM.

The 1930 Football Season at Raleigh High

Raleigh High School students will remember the 1930 football team as one of the greatest they have ever had. Ten games were included on the team's schedule with the locals winning nine and tying one. It is true that our school lost the State Championship at Chapel Hill to Charlotte, but it was a tight contest, and the Charlotte boys took advantage of every possible break to win by a 14-6 count.

Opening the championship series here, Raleigh defeated a strong Fayetteville eleven. Sammy Paul and Captain Dunaway featured this game with beautiful runs. The next game was played at Wilmington, the seaport town. Wilmington outplayed a listless Raleigh eleven the whole of the first half, but the locals came back beautifully in the third and fourth quarters to chalk up two touchdowns.

At Riddick Field the following week Raleigh played its third championship fray with Rocky Mount and won by a lone touchdown. Grady Ferrell featured this game with his terrific line smashing. Journeying to Durham, Raleigh passed her way to victory over the Bull City boys avenging a 6-0 defeat of 1929. Raleigh scored three times in the second half to turn back a hard fighting, well-coached Goldsboro team. This game gave Raleigh undisputed claim for the Eastern championship. However, the following week the locals were held scoreless by a scrappy Wilson outfit.

In the games with no championship bearing Raleigh easily defeated its opponents by scores 21-0 over Henderson; 31-7 over Mount Olive; 12-0 over Oxford; and 39-0 over Whiteville. Mount Olive was the only team on the regular schedule of the locals that was able to cross its goal line.

There were many stars as on every good team. Starting at the flanks, Ellisberg and Frazier, substitute ends, were outstanding and easily filled the gap left by Reeves and Perry, regulars, who were out because of injuries. At tackle there was not a better all-round football player in the State than Allen Bailey. Thomas, Bailey's mate, was a hard-charging lineman and a great defensive ace. At guard Worth was a hard man to beat while Hudson and Hill, alternating at the other post, were constant threats to their opponents. Cox, the pivot man, was one of the most valuable men in the line. He was in every play, smearing the runner or blocking the kicker. In the backfield, Kametches, the quarter, was a heady man and a good ball-carrier. Womble was probably the best all-round backfield man. His ability to pass, receive passes, punting and running gave him this distinction. Dunaway was a fast back and was an excellent broken field runner at the other half. Sammy Paul was also a fast man and a heads up player while Scales was a good defensive back. At fullback Captain-elect Grady Ferrel performed like a college gridster on the offense as well as the defense.

The scores follow:

LOCAL HIGHS WIN FIRST RING MEET

Dunaway Brothers and Jolly Score Wins To Defeat Rocky Mount Team

Raleigh high boxers won a dual meet with Rocky Mount high punchers here last night, getting wins in four of the seven bouts.

Three of the Raleigh victories were scored by the Dunaway brothers—Jack, Al and Bill—while the other was by Captain Frank Jolly. Jack and Bill Dunaway, the oldest of the fighting trio, were the only knockouts of the first of the season.

Local Ringmen Win Five of Seven Matches Against College Yearlings

Raleigh high boxers won five of seven bouts with N. C. State freshmen ringmen in a meet last night in the Broughton School gymnasium.

Two scrappers essayed the new men set but each finished with a 5-0 mark for the evening. Welling, State 115-pounder, won by a kayo over Bill Jolly in that weight but lost to Captain Frank Jolly of the highs when he assailed the 125-pound class.

Track Team

Although having a squad of only four men and traveling on their own initiative, the Track Team of Raleigh High School made a very impressive record in the State High School Meets and in the Southern Inter-scholastic Indoor Meet. At the latter meet Dunaway was second in the 1,000 yard dash. The relay team was second in the mile relay. Raleigh ranked fourth among the high schools and prep schools of the South.

At the Davidson meet the team took fifth place. Seaman Hudson and Bill Dunaway were second and third in the mile run. Dunaway easily won the 880 yard dash with Robert Hudson third.

At the Carolina Meet Dunaway was second in a close record breaking 880 yard dash. The old record of 2:05, held by Phoenix of Greensboro, was broken by 2 seconds. Seaman Hudson and Grady Ferrell were second and third in a close mile run in which Barkley's State record of 4:45 was broken by 4 seconds.

VALENTINE'S DAY

Looney Limericks of School Daze

There was once a teacher named Jones,
Who wished us to modulate our tones.
When she caught us in the hall,
As we gave one loud bawl,
Our tones soon turned to moans.

There was a young man named Dunaway,
Who showed great speed in the getaway.
Along came Dot Sawyer,
Lass of a lawyer.
And stole young Bill's heart away.

An excellent instructor was Miss Barden,
Who declared our heads were too hardened
To admit any Latin,
Spoken or written,
And that our ignorance was without pardon.

There was a young lad called "Peavine,"
Who dribbled the ball down the line,
Making scores in the game
And getting the name
Of heartbreaker at the same time.

There was a young teacher, Alexander,
Who taught our fingers to meander
Swiftly over keys.
From A's to Z's,
And to write letters from here to yonder.

Young Myatt answered to William;
He was one boy in a million.
He could reach a basketball goal
On a twelve foot pole,
And make the score one billion.

From Mr. Wessinger's very own lips
We learned business arith was a crip
Till Miss Nellie McClees,
By swift degrees,
Showed us to pass we must fast trip.

There was a young man named Bob
For whom the girls would all sob,
But this was a sad fate;
They were all too late,
For "Mug" only did his heart throb.

Miss Gilmore was a young French ma'mselle
With voice like a deep rich bell;
But when our lessons we'd fail.
She knew how to rail,
And at ninth period sounded our knells.

There was a young man named Bailey,
Who tackled football daily;
And broke feminine hearts
Into numerous parts,
And went on his way gaily.

BUILDERS DREAMS

VISIONS created by the imagination precede the achievement of any really great accomplishment. The ability to weave the threads of imagination into the finished fabric is equally important.

It has been the privilege of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY to interpret the ideas of the Staff and create in material form their vision.

From the art work and engravings to the finished book, this volume is the result of organized coöperation with the Staff.

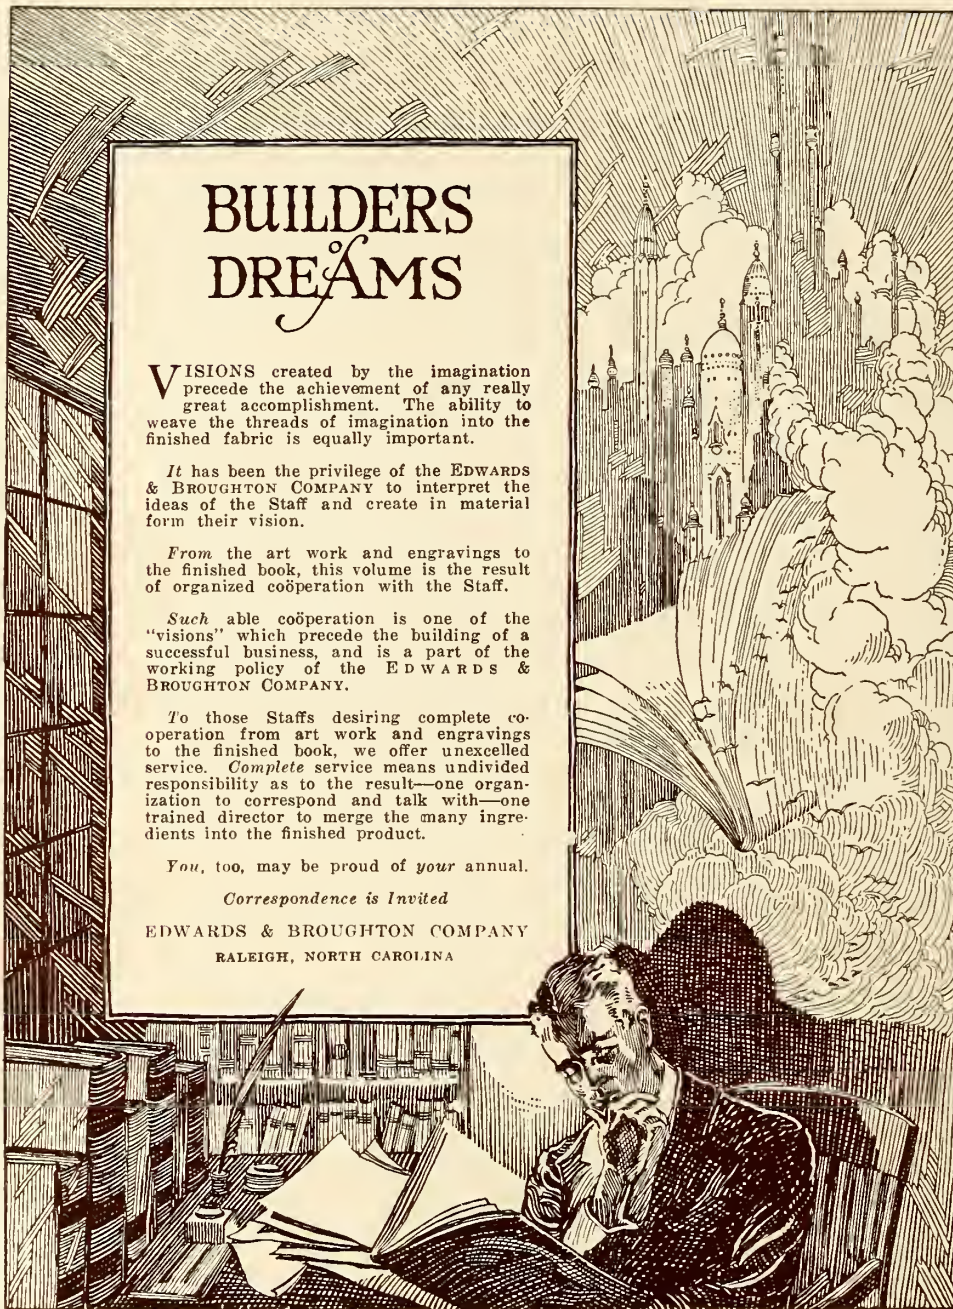

Such able coöperation is one of the "visions" which precede the building of a successful business, and is a part of the working policy of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY.

To those Staffs desiring complete coöperation from art work and engravings to the finished book, we offer unexcelled service. Complete service means undivided responsibility as to the result—one organization to correspond and talk with—one trained director to merge the many ingredients into the finished product.

You, too, may be proud of your annual.
